
Tavistock institute for human relations

Description

ia800203.us.archive.org/12/items/Tavistock_201601/Coleman_John_-_The_Tavistock_Institute_of_Human_Relations.pdf
The Tavistock Institute of Human Relations or TIHR is a British not-for-profit organisation which applies social science to contemporary issues and problems. It was initiated in 1946, when it developed from the Tavistock Clinic, and was formally established as a separate entity in September 1947.More at Wikipedia

References

Neumann, J. E.. (2005). Kurt lewin at the tavistock institute. Educational Action Research

Plain numerical DOI: 10.1080/09650790500200271
DOI URL
directSciHub download

Show/hide publication abstract

“Abstract notions of action research and of integrating object relations and field psychologies have exerted a steady influence on both the initial formation of the tavistock institute in london and on the subsequent 60 years of its professional identity and approach to work. these notions can be tied directly to early scientific contact with kurt lewin, and indirectly through the lewinian philosophy that staff incorporated into an overall ?house style?. from 1990, however, changes in the institute’s funding environment undermined this historical source of integrity. recent developments to reclaim and update the roots of kurt lewin at the tavistock institute. notions of action research and of integrating object relations and field psychologies have exerted a steady influence on both the initial formation of the tavistock institute in london and on the subsequent 60 years of its professional identity and approach to work. these notions can be tied directly to early scientific contact with kurt lewin, and indirectly through the lewinian philosophy that staff incorporated into an overall ?house style?. from 1990, however, changes in the institute's funding environment undermined this historical source of integrity. recent developments to reclaim and update the roots of kurt lewin at the tavistock institute."

Category

1. Anthropology
2. General psychology
3. Psychopolitics
4. Social psychology
5. Sociology

Tags

1. brainwashing
2. john coleman
3. Social engineering
4. Tavistock institute

Date Created
November 2018
Author
web45